

In general:

- Navbar is present on every page, always at the top (even when scrolling), has a hover effect that changes the color of background and text, also shows which page is open by underlining the word. For devices with smaller screens the navbar is listed vertically and doesn't stick to the top to not obstruct the content of the page.
- Footer (made as a table) is always at the bottom of the page, address and contact are also links.
- Background image is present on some pages.
- Every page should work and show content properly on smaller screens as well (using flex), every page has at least one break point for the navbar (using media query).

Welcome page:

- Background image
- Short text about me on the lefthand side (with emoji)
- Photo of me on the right with caption
- For small screens the picture goes under the text

The screenshot shows a web browser displaying a personal website at the URL 127.0.0.1:5501/index.html. The page has a brown parchment-like background. At the top left, there is a navigation bar with links: Welcome page, About me, CV, Picture gallery, and Contact form. The main content area features the heading "Welcome to my page!" in bold black font. Below it, there is a "Hi there!" message with a smiling emoji, followed by "I am Martin, just a chill Slovak guy." A paragraph states, "Welcome to my personal web page, where you can find plenty of interesting facts about me." Another text block says, "For example, did you know that I am not Batman, even though I look exactly like him?" To the right of the text, there is a circular portrait of a young man with spiky hair, waving his hand. Below the portrait is the caption "Yes, this is me". At the bottom of the page, there is a dark footer bar with three links: "Address", "Contact me", and "Most likely to respond".

About me:

I was born on the 6th of November 2005 in the capital of Slovakia, Bratislava. I lived in the city for the first few years of my life, until my parents separated. Afterwards, I was switching between the two.

In my elementary school I have met people that I can call best friends even today. Za kasáriou (the elementary school) has not only given me a solid foundation in my education but also created some of my most memorable memories. Highschool was also great, I have also created lots of friends there and learned to speak English fluently, already in the first year, which helped me massively with what was about to come.

The second year of highschool I didn't visit the same school. My step-father got a job offer in Egypt where we have relocated for 2 years. It was a splendid experience that fostered my English fluency as well as confidence in speaking. People there came from different backgrounds and it was highly interesting to talk to them (especially my friend from North Korea). After the 2 years I have returned to Slovakia and finished my mandatory education there.

Currently, I am studying Informatics, at the IMC University of Applied Sciences in Krems an der Donau.

Here are some fun facts about me:

- 💡 I could ride a bicycle since I was 2 y.o.
- 👉 I hate paprika
- 👉 I will be exactly 20 y.o. at the deadline of this task
- 👉 I like chess

Here are some fun facts about me:

- دراجة أطفالي
- أبغض الببريك
- سأكون بالضبط 20 سنة في تاريخ إتمام هذه المهمة
- أحب الشطرنج

2 y.o. me riding a bicycle (with no training wheels)

This is how I feel about paprika

Here is my highly professional CV

Education

- GYMNÁZIUM JURA HRONCA (GJH) BRATISLAVA
2020-present

One of the highest-rated high schools in Slovakia.
Bilingual program gave me strong foundation, especially in English (C1 level when leaving), math, physics and others.
In the last two years, I specialized in math and physics as my seminar subjects.

- PAKISTAN INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL IN CAIRO (IGCSE AND A-LEVELS)
2021-2023

After the first year at GJH my family and I moved to Cairo where I attended this international school for two years.
Not only did it foster my confidence in speaking English but also provided excellent education and raised my interest in math.

Contact form

- Background photo
- Contact form can't be sent unless every box is used
- Terms of service and privacy policy are links, but don't work
- Submit button has hover effect
- Layout was done by grid, for smaller screens the form is more vertical

The screenshot shows a contact form page with a dark background featuring a green digital matrix-style binary code pattern. At the top, there's a navigation bar with links: Welcome page, About me, CV, Picture gallery, and Contact form. The main content area has a large heading: "Any questions? Please fill in this contact form:". Below this are four input fields arranged in a grid: "First Name" and "Last Name" in the top row, and "Email address" and "Phone number" in the bottom row. A large text area below them is labeled "You can write your message here". At the bottom, there's a checkbox labeled "I've read and agree with Terms of Service and Privacy Policy" followed by a "Submit" button.
